

Newman Memorial Hospital Is Offering a Free February Lunch & Learn to Complement our Healthy Heart Clinical Specials

Newman Memorial Hospital is excited to be hosting another wonderful FREE Lunch & Learn which is open to the community on Tuesday, February 20th, 2018 from 12:00 to 12:30 in the Basement Conference Room. Lunch will be provided in addition to our speaker, so please arrive a few minutes early in order to get your meal! Our speaker will begin his presentation promptly at noon. The purpose of these lunches is to provide educational opportunities to boost the health, safety and quality of our community. Our speaker this month will be Dr. Taylor, M.D., Emergency Department & Urgent Care Director at Newman Memorial Hospital. He will be giving a short presentation during the lunch and then will be available for questions.

During his presentation, called Cholesterol: What are The Facts?, Dr. Taylor, M.D. will be discussing the good, the bad and the ugly related to cholesterol. His presentation will be followed by a question and answer period. So come join us for a delicious free meal prepared by our hospital cafeteria staff and learn something new about your heart health.....knowledge is power! If you would like to join us, please RSVP to Joey Burgtorf at 580-938-5529, email me jburtorf@newmanmemorialhospital.org or sign up on our Facebook page! We look forward to seeing you there.....and bring a friend!
